Kinyatta E Gray

Kinyatta is the Founder and CEO of FlightsInStilettos, LLC. FlightsInStilettos offers women options when choosing their beach towels. Women no longer have to hide their old reused hotel-issued beach towels or settle for seashells and sandcastles on their beach towel designs. Instead, they can flaunt their luxury inclusive FlightsInStilettos beach towels with beautiful illustrations that look like them. Creating luxurious beach towels with illustrations of black women sends the message that their image is beautiful and worthy of being shared in the travel space, worldwide.

Season one of I'm the Entrepreneurs Social Connect features creator Camille Brown, owner of Pussy Hefner, LLC. The show follows along as this established business maven breaks down what it takes to become a successful entrepreneur.

Camille and co-creator Maureen Washington are keen on spreading a message of positivity, motivation, and encouragement in business. They are well known for their passion and talent for networking with other entrepreneurs and helping them to level up their businesses. They strive to connect themselves and other entrepreneurs in a way that allows everyone to succeed. Their tips, advice, and encouraging words are aspirational for men and women alike.

“Our guests explain their journey; the good, bad and ugly,” explained Camille. “This valuable information includes sharing business connections to create an open forum for communication & growth without the fear of being in competition with one another. The truth is, there is room for all of us to grow & be successful.”
