Huey Enterprises, Inc. a reputed executive search firm, has offered specialized recruitment services to companies with hiring needs for executive and senior management positions. The firm operates globally and maintains a vast network of clients consisting of highly competent and successful top-ranking professionals. It specializes in the recruitment of qualified profiles capable of filling strategically important roles in companies operating in the real estate, retail, and construction industries.

With a team of executives that has over 80 years of experience, the firm has established itself as one of the best executive search firms in Missouri. Numerous engagements with different clients has helped the firm to develop a deeper understanding of the unique recruitment needs of each industry. This has inspired the firm to broaden its network of talents, and augment its search and recruitment process to increase the quality of profiles it recruits.

One of the chief advantages Huey Enterprises provides to clients is that it finds the most qualified profiles using a robust methodology from a vast network of highly accomplished professionals. With the client's best interest in mind, the executive search firm always puts in the effort to appraise the position in question to make it more attractive for suitable candidates.

To ensure confidentiality, the firm follows a strict policy of keeping clients' corporate identity hidden during the search and negotiating process. This saves clients from having to deal with candidates who do not fit the role in consideration. Updates and any new developments are shared promptly so that clients are always aware and on the same page as the firm.

Within the real estate industry, the expertise of the firm has been utilized by business entities such as owners/developers, private investment institutes, REITs, leasing, property and asset management companies, and corporate real estate departments. In the retail industry, major department stores, discount store and specialty store chains have used the firm to fill senior vice president, vice president, director, manager, and senior staff level positions in real estate, construction and store planning. In another area of its specialization, the firm has helped multiple general contractors find profiles for the position of a senior vice president, vice president, division manager, project director, project manager, and chief estimator.

In addition, Huey Enterprises has assisted a wide variety of companies not related to their areas of specialization. Search assignments are accepted only when excellent sources for candidates have been identified.

Speaking about the firm's performance over the years, founder and president Arthur Huey said, "We know how valuable and critical the outcome of our searches are. Our goal is to find the best matches for the positions. We don't want our clients to face the consequences of hiring a referral from us that does not fit the role."
