

Artificial Pancreas Systems in North America Market Will Hit Big Revenues In Future | Medtronic, Dexcom, Insulet Corp

SEATTLE, UNITED STATES, UNITED STATES, October 7, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- An artificial pancreas is a man-made device that performs pancreatic functions. It, like the normal pancreas, may release insulin in reaction to changes in blood glucose levels in the body. Closed-loop artificial pancreas, bionic pancreas, and implanted artificial pancreas are examples of artificial pancreas. The artificial pancreas market is dominated by companies like as Beta Bionics, Bigfoot Biomedical, Medtronic, Insulet, and others. Furthermore, approvals, launches, and frequent collaborations among key companies for the development of novel artificial pancreas are likely to fuel the growth of the worldwide artificial pancreas device system (APDS) market during the forecast period. As an example, In July 2018, Beta Bionics, Inc. announced that the United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA) had approved a supplement filed by Beta Bionics to its previously approved investigational device exemption (IDE), thereby expanding ongoing home-use clinical trials testing its new integrated technology, which combines the iLet bionic pancreas and the Senseonics Eversense CGM. Beta Bionics, Inc. commenced clinical testing of Eversense-compatible iLet with this approval, which comes less than three weeks after Senseonics got FDA approval to begin commercial marketing of Eversense for adults with diabetes.
