The court ruled that Mark Plummer violated the Orange County Bar Association's Civility Guidelines by verbally harassing the parties at a deposition. Among other conduct, the court cited that during a referenced 2018 deposition, Plummer stated that defendant was "blabbering away," "reading in garbage," "incompetent," and Plummer went as far out of accusing the defendant of "plotting a crime." The judge even admonished Plummer's uncivilized deposition remarks to opposing counsel which included "I am asking him about garbage that you have told the court in all your ex parte crap." Although Plummer was not sanctioned, the judge warned Plummer that further violations of the Bar Civility Guidelines at depositions could result in additional orders against Plummer.

Plummer has been sanctioned by the courts for litigation misconduct in a number of other cases. Santa Clara Superior Court sanctioned lawyer Mark Plummer and Law Offices of Mark Plummer $2000 on March 10, 2022 in Aerofund v. Staff 24 LLC et al., Case No. 21CV375893. Although the State Bar may discipline lawyers for violation of the professional rules of conduct and ethics violations, often it does not. Mark Plummer's State Bar profile as of the date of this publication does not reflect any public discipline.
