Mortgage and Title Solutions, LLC, a global end-to-end mortgage, title, and property tax service provider, announces the launch of OpusOne at this year's most awaited title industry event, ALTA ONE happening in Coronado in San Diego, CA, from October 11th to 14th 2022. OpusOne is a highly automated proprietary data extraction solution that automates title, settlement, and mortgage loan processes, enabling clients with faster closings, improved accuracy and shorter cycle time.

Speaking on the occasion, Greg Lucas, VP of Business Development at Orchestrate said,

"Now, with high inflation and historically high home values, we can't expect what the future will hold. But what we can do is invest in the right digital technology that will lead the industry. That's why we built OpusOne.

OpusOne allows us to access a large sum of taxing jurisdictions digitally to perform searches and provide accurate data sources automatically using our AI and machine learning technologies. It is specially designed to streamline strenuous mortgage and title processes."

Further, Z. Ed Lateef, CEO of Orchestrate Mortgage and Title Solutions, added that, "With cost pressures on the rise and achieving client expectation becoming an imperative to market survival, OpusOne will be an indispensable platform to assist the mortgage and title industry on its journey towards meeting and exceeding customer expectations.

And owing to its capability and flexibility, our clients can rely on its automation as part of any routine process, resulting in improved efficiency, reduced costs, and improved turnaround times."

With the launch of OpusOne, we look forward to delivering significantly improved quality results at shorter cycle times along with cost reductions.

Orchestrate's focus and growth strategy is centered on the following core areas while expanding to meet client's demands.

- Title Services
- Tax Reporting
- Processing Support
- QA/QC Reviews
- Appraisal & Order Management
- Closing & Post-closing Services
