Global Acuo Vendor Neutral Archive Market Dynamics

Drivers

Increasing demand of industries

Acuo vendor neutral archive market growth is anticipated to accelerate from 2022 to 2029 due to rising demand for lifecycle management, disaster recovery, standard-based storage solutions, declining data migration prices, and expanding industrial sector.

Advancement in healthcare IT

Vendor neutral archives provide advantages over PACS in terms of interoperability, flexibility, and accessibility, driving the VNA technology's market adoption. In addition, the market is being stimulated by positive and promising government initiatives in the area of healthcare IT.

Rising demand for the widespread adoption of medical image archiving

Some key factors anticipated to propel the market under study include rising demand for the widespread adoption of medical image archiving, falling data storage costs, and high-level integration with the EHR sector. Additionally, the demand for medical archiving has grown as a result of the widespread demand for the digitization of healthcare systems.

Opportunities

Technological Innovations

In addition, the segment is expanding due to the innovation, new launches, and ongoing efforts of the leading players. For instance, in February ScImage, Inc., a top cloud-based enterprise imaging and reporting solutions provider, introduced its PICOM365 enterprise imaging process. The Microsoft Azure Cloud powers PICOM365, which offers all the features of on-premises PACS software solutions.

Restraints/Challenges

Rising data breach rates

Increasing cases of data breach and misinterpretation is expected to slow down the market growth and the lifecycles of vendor neutral archive are time consuming which restraint the market growth during the forecast period of 2022 to 2029.
