

Historical Drama About England's First Woman Playwright Joins the Frankfurter Buchmesse

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, October 13, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Maureen

Cary's Winter's Fire is a historical drama that details the life of Lady Elizabeth Cary and her struggles to become a playwright in politically-turbulent England. Maureen's book will be part of Bookmarc Alliance's exhibit for the Frankfurter Buchmesse, the world's largest book fair, slated for October 19-23 at the Frankfurt Fair Trade Grounds.

When she attends the theater with her friend, she sometimes imagines that they are watching a play written by herself rather than Master Will Shakespeare.”

Maureen Cary

Lady Elizabeth Cary finds herself in the company of Countess Mary Herbert, her friend, and mentor when the latter invited Lady Elizabeth for a stay at Baynards Castle. With rumors of assassination plots and the blowing up of the House of Lords, people are burdened with suspicion resulting in everyone keeping their own council. Even the residents of Baynards Castle have their secrets that could provoke a scandal: clandestine meetings with a well-known visitor occur at night inside the castle halls. But Lady Elizabeth is not immune to secrecy herself. The one secret Elizabeth is considering confiding to Countess Mary has to do with her growing desire to write her own play.

A native of California, Maureen Cary has spent twenty years teaching college-bound seniors in the Bay Area. While doing research for her course Survey of British Literature, she came upon the story of England's first woman playwright, Lady Elizabeth Tanfield Cary. Needless to say, hers was a story Ms. Cary felt compelled to tell.
