Increase in consumer demand for different & aspiring clothing patterns, investments by textile dye companies in APAC driving the growth of textile dyes market.

HYDERABAD, TELANGANA, INDIA, October 18, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- IndustryARC, in its latest report, predicts that the textile dyes market size is estimated to reach US$14.8 billion by 2027 after growing at a CAGR of 5.4% from 2022 to 2027. Textile dyes are the colorants that when added to fabric gives it a color that stays there permanently through repeated use. Fabrics like polyester, wool, silk, nylon, cotton, acrylic etc., are colored through the use of dyes. As dyes absorb and reflect light so they provide a sense of color and beauty to the fabric. However, textile dyes are highly soluble and do high damage to water bodies, like preventing light penetration through water, affecting water oxygen level and also releasing untreated effluents in water leads to high chemical oxygen demand. Moreover, water and air pollution caused by textile dyes lead to health problems like oxidative stress, damage to the lungs, liver and also cancer. Hence all these factors are expected to negatively impact the textile dyes industry. The report offers a complete analysis of the market, its major segments, growth factors, trends, drivers and challengers, key players and more.
