Microbiome Global Market Report 2022: Market Size,
Trends, And Forecast To 2026

As per The Business Research Company's "Microbiome Global Market Report 2022", the microbiome market size is predicted to grow from $5.54 billion in 2021 to $6.18 billion in 2022 at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 11.40%. The Russia-Ukraine war disrupted the chances of global economic recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic, at least in the short term. The war between these two countries has led to economic sanctions on multiple countries, a surge in commodity prices, and supply chain disruptions, affecting many markets across the globe. The microbiome market is expected to reach $10.09 billion in 2026 at a CAGR of 13.10%. The increasing prevalence of inflammatory bowel disease (IBD) is a key factor driving the microbiome market growth.

Key Trends In The Microbiome Market

The growing technological improvement is gaining popularity among the microbiome market trends. Major companies in the microbiome sector are focusing on developing advanced technology solutions for microbiomes. For instance, Seed, a new microbiome company, has introduced Probiotic and Prebiotic Daily Synbiotic for both females and males. The Daily Synbiotic Seed is the first to follow a microbe-system strategy with strain-specific advantages beyond digestive health such as cardiac safety, dermatological health, immune control, reproductive health, the integrity of the gut barrier, and oxidative stress.

Overview Of The Microbiome Market

The microbiome market consists of sales of microbiomes drugs and related services.

Microbiome therapy aims at restoring balanced gut microbiota and is expected to decrease the risk of infection recurrence and greatly increase the quality of life of patients.
