is expected to reach $278.5 Billion by 2028, growing at a CAGR of 5.4% (2021-2028). The market is driven by increasing demand for premium wines and growing awareness of health benefits.

Moreover, the key players are coming up with new packaging styles which are handy and attractive. Likewise, in Australia, some market players introduced red wine packaging in can and are selling their wines in 250 ml cans with ring-pull tabs. In addition, the cans are made of aluminum and have a shelf life of five years, and are convenient for single or two-glass servings.

The red wine industry faces multiple challenges including but not limited to counterfeiting, adulteration, and deception. Adulteration of red wine results in a big loss to the key players as there is a large number of counterfeited wines in the red wine market. In China, approximately 50% of the foreign wines were found to be fake. Also, it was estimated that 70% of Chateau Lafite Rothschild bottles sold in China were fake and 60% of the wines sold in China as French wines were fake, which shows that wine counterfeiting is one of the major trends in the Chinese market, which is one of the biggest red wine markets of the world. Furthermore, counterfeiting of established brands often tarnishes the brand image and brand loyalty; such malpractices challenges the market expansion of leading players operating in the market.

Some of the major players profiled in the red wine market analysis include:

Some of the major players profiled in the red wine market analysis include The Carlyle Group, Brown-Forman, Campari Group, Castel Winery Plc., Caviro sca, Constellation Brands, Inc., Rémy Cointreau, The Wine Group, Treasury Wine Estates, and Viña Concha y Toro.
