Strategies – Global Forecast To 2030*

LONDON, GREATER LONDON, UK, October 24, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Community and individual services providers are adopting latest technologies to enhance adult day care service quality being offered to senior citizens. They are widely using technologies such as wearable devices and geo-fencing. Sensors, voice activation, GPS, Bluetooth, and smartphone monitoring apps help in low-cost and efficient monitoring of patients. Major companies offering devices and solutions for community and individual care services include MedMinder, Reminder Noise, Philips Lifeline, GrandCare, iTraq, GreatCall and ClearCare. According to a study held in the United States in November 2019, 25% of the adults aged 18-34 years use health app and 16% of them stated that they have used it in the past. Ochsner, a leading non-profit health care delivery system, is using smartwatches and fitness bands to track senior citizens with chronic diseases.

The global community and individual services market size is expected to grow from $1.25 trillion in 2021 to $1.95 trillion in 2026 at a rate of 9.4%. The global community and individual services market share is then expected to grow at a CAGR of 9.5% from 2026 and reach $3.08 trillion in 2031.

There is increasing demand from people opting for community stay at retirement homes/group homes, especially in developing countries, which is expected to drive the growth of the market in the forecast period. This gradual change can be attributed to changes in social patterns, familial structures and increasing globalization, which does not allow children or other family members to take care of aged or people with disabilities/chronic illnesses, as they live in different cities or countries. Therefore, people prefer to stay in community living which ensures better mental health for residents. Community stay also allows a more secure stay for the aged/disabled with a professional system in place to take care of them. This is expected to fuel the growth of the market in the forecast period.
