UAE Pet Food Market

Pet food is a plant- or animal-based food product that is generally prepared for pet animals. It is prepared from natural or artificial ingredient that is free from antibiotics, artificial coloring, synthetic hormones, pesticides, and fertilizers. It is widely available in various forms, including snacks, liquid supplements, gravies, and treats. It provides numerous health benefits, such as boosting immunity, strengthening bones and muscles, reducing allergies, and minimizing digestive disorders and obesity in pets. In UAE, there has been a significant increase in the adoption of human-grade pet foods since they provide abundant nutrients to pets, have a longer shelf life, and are easy to digest.

UAE Pet Food Industry Demand Analysis:

The growing trend of pet adoption is driving the pet food market in UAE. Coupled with the rising concerns among pet owners regarding their health is providing a boost to the demand for nutritious and high-quality pet foods. In line with this, numerous leading players are introducing diversified food variants, including organic and genetically modified organism (GMO)-free products, which are gaining widespread prominence across the country. Moreover, the easy availability of products through online and offline organized distribution channels and the advent of home delivery models are significantly supporting the market growth. Other factors, including rapid urbanization, continual technological advancements, and the growing investments by leading players in extensive research and development (R&D) activities, are also influencing the market growth across the UAE.
