DETROIT, MICHIGAN, UNITED STATES, October 21, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The music industry is a world filled with incredibly talented individuals captivating the sounds of nations with a unique blend of storytelling and songwriting. However, in this sea of skills and accomplishment, not all artists can retain their spark as time passes, find their unique voice, and stand out among many. One music artist that has managed to dominate the industry and reach tremendous success is chart-topping hip-hop artist Drew Lines.

Born Andrew D. Wold, Drew Lines is one fast-rising hip-hop artist with a distinctive fuel determined to bring his creative twists and vigor to the music industry and change the hip-hop music scene with his wide creative range. Drew Lines became the first hip-hop artist to be signed by Stryker Records, a label known for releasing rock music. However, despite being a recent addition to the Stryker Records family, Drew has long been involved in the music scene - initially viewing the auditory art as an outlet for his childhood misfortunes.

Growing up was a struggle, a hard-fought battle, but every man's struggle is their own, and I have made it through what I hope to be the worst of my own," he said.

Leveraging sound and writing as a manner of self-expression, Drew started writing at the age of 13 while at a boy's prison, where he would write poems and send them home. He wrote over 500 poems, and soon, his thoughtful words and creative use of rhyme shot him to prominence in literature and music. On top of that, he caught the the attention of The International Poets Society, resulting in a first-place distinction for his published poetry piece "Rose."

This past September, the chart-topping artist recorded and fine-tuned his new single "Bangarang" featuring Caesar Reddington, with renowned producer Chuck Alkazian at Pearl Sound Studios in Detroit. A Michigan native, Chuck Alkazian has a diverse portfolio developing, producing, recording, mixing and consulting for countless diverse artists in all musical genres. He has produced songs for A-list artists such as Royce Da 5'9", Eminem, Chris Cornell, Trust Company, Pop Evil, The Romantics and Sponge. "Bangarang" is set to be released on Stryker Records on January 6th, 2023.

In an interview, Drew Lines described working alongside Chuck Alkazian as one of the best experiences of his music career. "Chuck is a phenomenal artist, producer, engineer and, most importantly, a great human being. I learned a lot from him about a whole new area of this rap game and music in general. The thought, time and attention put into this single we created, is incredible," he shared.

Although yet to hit the airwaves, Bangarang is more than just a song. It is a song that delves into Drew Lines journey from going to a juvenile prison to becoming a musical sensation. "This track means a lot to me. It has everything to do with my past, present, and where I'm aiming for the future," the gifted artist shared. "Bangarang is a track that many can relate to. We have all been lost and felt the weight of hunger, loss, and realism. This song is about the ability to endure, maintain control of your dreams and smile through adversity. It's about causing a stir, holding onto those dreams you had as a child, learning how to adapt and not caring what anyone thinks," he added. With "Bangarang" already making pre-release waves, there is much to come from Pearl Sound and Drew Lines.

Beating the odds repeatedly, Drew Lines has proven himself an unstoppable music artist. As if cementing that reputation, his latest song, "Bangarang," to be released through Stryker Records on January 6th, 2023, foretells his unchallenged ascent to the top.
