The Samoan Islands are around 2,500 miles southwest of Hawaii. The first island of American Samoa to become a territory of the United States was Tutuila, in the year 1900. One of the benefits of starting an LLC in American Samoa is that individuals are not required to file state taxes. In official terms, American Samoa is not legally a state, the way California or Nevada are, but a territory; other territories with similar statuses are Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands. American Samoa has its own, independent tax authority.

Residents of American Samoa are considered U.S. nationals, but they do not qualify for citizenship; this is the only territory whose people do not qualify for birthright citizenship. This arrangement was established at the request of the local government of American Samoa. They felt that bestowing U.S. citizenship upon people born in American Samoa would threaten their local culture, and endanger their historic method of transferring local real estate ownership via tribal titles and ancestry. Local laws also limit property ownership to those of a minimum of 50% Samoan ancestry; the U.S. Constitution would require those laws to be abolished.

In 2019, a Utah court ruled that those born in American Samoa should be given U.S. citizenship; however, this ruling was overturned by the 10th Circuit in 2021.

No Taxation Without Representation

Another benefit is that, since American Samoa only has non-voting representation in Congress, income earned in American Samoa can be excluded from State tax. No taxation without representation is still a legal principle in America today. Take advantage of this longstanding American legal tradition by making an LLC application in American Samoa.

Protection from Frivolous Lawsuits

Another excellent reason to start an LLC in American Samoa is the protections afforded to LLC members by its physical location. American Samoa is a several-hour flight from Hawaii, which is itself already a 5-6 hour flight from Southern California.
