Chairman of the CCS Illustration department Don Kilpatrick says, "This is a rare opportunity to see illustration students from one of the top programs in the country. Not only does it present a chance to see graduating student's work, but it offers an opportunity for the community to gather in-person and celebrate the arts."

Assistant to the Vice President at College for Creative Studies, Aletha Jordan says, "I am very excited about this opportunity to display young illustrators work from a variety of career paths."

The show will be held on November 17th from 7:00 PM to 10:00 PM at the Center Gallery, located in the Manoogian Visual Resource Center at: 301 Frederick Douglass St. Detroit, MI 48202.

CCS is a private art school in Detroit, Michigan. Established in 1906, the school enrolls more than 1,400 students and focuses on arts education. CCS is also active in offering art education to children through its Community Arts Partnerships program and its Henry Ford Academy: School for Creative Studies.
