

Softbuilder Announces AbstraLinux on Salesforce AppExchange, the World's Leading Enterprise Cloud Marketplace

Salesforce's customers can now benefit from intuitive diagramming and metadata visualization and discovery software to gain insight into their Salesforce orgs

PARIS, FRANCE, October 25, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Softbuilder today announced it has launched AbstraLinux on Salesforce AppExchange, empowering customers with a holistic view of their Salesforce metadata while customizing and managing their Salesforce organizations. The tool then provides an intelligent way to extract, explore, and document Salesforce metadata.

"We are thrilled to be part of Salesforce AppExchange" said M. Tadlaoui, CEO and Co-Founder at Softbuilder. "With AbstraLinux, our customers can better understand their Salesforce organizations, making it much easier to integrate customizations and boost business performance."

Integrated directly with Salesforce, AbstraLinux is currently available on AppExchange at <https://appexchange.salesforce.com/appxListingDetail?listingId=a0N3u00000MBrDHEA1>

AbstraLinux provides Salesforce architects, administrators, developers, and business analysts with an easy-to-use and powerful tool for accessing, extracting, exploring, understanding, and documenting Salesforce metadata. Data architects may use AbstraLinux to create data dictionaries and integrate Salesforce metadata into data glossaries, catalogs, and more. It also includes a strong comparison tool that enables users to visually compare the Salesforce metadata of two organizations.
