The curated student exhibition titled "Deck the Walls" will feature more than 60 works of art created by this year's graduates of Art on 30th's celebrated Mentorship Program. Art on 30th's Mentorship Program is the only professional development program of its kind for local artists and accepts just six students a session. Different than general arts classes or school, the Mentorship Program is an advanced and intensive curriculum designed for skilled artists who are ready to move into the professional realm. Students are mentored by three successful and experienced professional artists; Brenda York, Roberta Dyer and Sheila Daube, who collectively help the mentees refine their artistic voice and develop necessary business skills in a small-class learning environment. Beyond the basics of painting, students also learn essential real-world-information, including; pricing and It's also an excellent alternative to the larger shopping and entertainment venues." stated Kate Ashton, owner of Ashton Gallery. This event is free and open to the public. Light refreshments will be served. The exhibit will show at Ashton Gallery from December 10- January 6, 2022.
