About Staywell Copper:

Marcia Reece is the lady who invented Sidewalk Chalk back in the 1970s. She has invented over 100 products – practical products solving everyday problems we all face. After she almost died from a deadly MRSA staph infection in her lower spine, she became “phobic” about finding an all-natural, chemical and drug-free way to kill the harmful bacteria threatening all of us. She endured six surgeries, having to learn to walk again and having final rites twice. Once she recovered, she began her research and product development.

She struggled with the side effects of what she endured to get well and wanted a non-invasive way to help all of us stay safe from the bacteria all around us, without contaminating our bodies with unknown or synthetic substances.

Introducing StayWell® Copper, a company on a mission to make safe, all-natural bacteria-killing products accessible to all. StayWell® Copper

Phone Patch is made with the cleanest metal known to man, so your phone will never harbor harmful bacteria and viruses and will last and look great for years.
