VideoProc Converter, a fast and all-in-one video processing program, was launched in October 2018 by Digiarty Software, Inc. What initially began four years ago as a program that purports to provide users with easy video editing and conversion solutions has now flourished and grown into a robust and capable 4K/HD video toolbox to convert videos/audios/DVDs, fix, compress, edit, download, and record.

With an unwavering commitment to generating features in line with the trend of the times and the demands of the masses, VideoProc is still climbing in users globally. Over the past years, the program has made considerable headway, enhancing 4K video conversion with the inclusion of more 4K video profiles, reducing the average CPU usage of hardware-accelerated encoding to 2% for greater HD/4K video processing proficiency, extending its global reach with reinforced compatibility and stability, etc.

“VideoProc is proud of its four-year track record of organic growth and sustained profitability while delivering global video processing solutions. We have achieved this milestone through hard work, and are excited to mark the 4th anniversary of the program,” said Jack Han, CEO of Digiarty Software. “Moving forward, we will be focusing on delivering substantial additional value to our users and innovation to the video processing industry. And there is no better way to commemorate four-year of product innovation and services than to give back to our customers.”
