data analytics and AI specialists LigaData, has joined leading global telecommunications industry association TM Forum, as announced at Digital Transformation World 22 (DTW22) in Copenhagen.

LigaData has further demonstrated its commitment to adopting open standards by signing the TM Forum's manifesto for Open Digital Architecture and Open API standards.

LigaData's expert team of telco-specific data scientists leverages the collective intelligence of the industry through TM Forum's agile, collaborative working groups of CSPs to implement gold-standard industry frameworks and create innovative digital solutions.

George Glass, CTO, TM Forum, stated: “Collaboration is at the heart of everything TM Forum stands for. Members like LigaData, with their extensive expertise delivering improved business outcomes for their global telco customer base, will thrive in our collaborative and innovative programs. Together our 130,000 telco professional members drive real-world change and share best practices to solve complex issues that affect their organizations daily.”

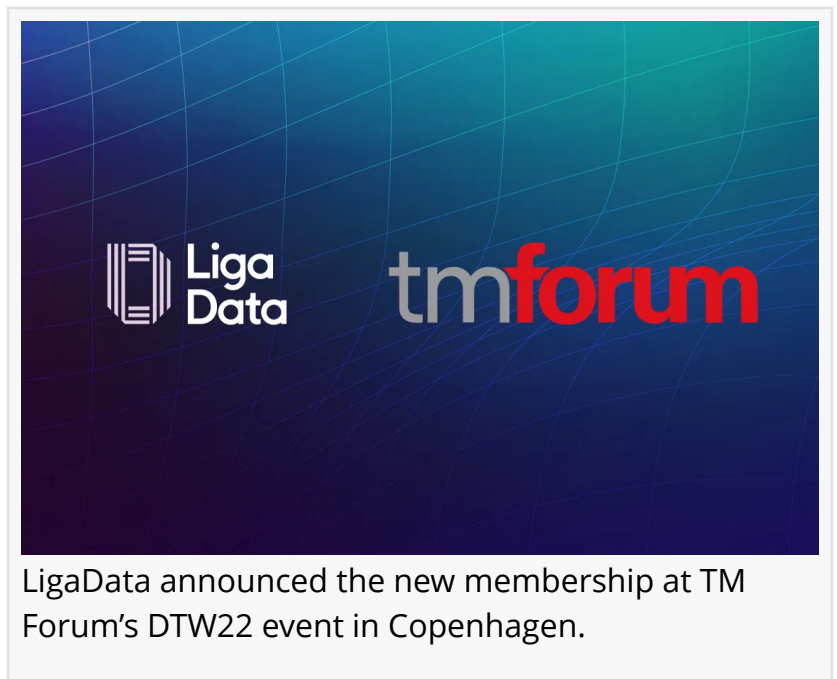

Krishna Uppala, CTO at LigaData, said: “We recognize TM Forum's critical role in developing widely adopted industry frameworks and standardizing Open APIs that are used in most Telco deployments. Being a member of TM Forum allows us to support our clients more effectively and fuels our products to drive industry change.”
