cultural conversations. The premise and production of our show is where “urban” & “upscale” intersect. Our audiences span several urban formats and demographics. Our target demographic is African American focused. We are a hit with men ages 32-45 and women ages 35-44. Our brand has scaled several domestic major markets including New York, Chicago, Houston, and Atlanta. We’ve also made a significant international impact with audiences in Canada, Nigeria, South Africa, Ghana, and London. The inauguration season focuses on “relationships” of a personal, intimate, and community perspective. We discuss the highs, lows, and challenges with an intention of finding “resolve” on various scenarios. The Brian Reveals Show is about “everyday people” with a mix of celebrities, popular culture, and uncomfortable, yet entertaining conversations you won’t find elsewhere. To help unpack the various aspects of relationships, we’ll feature couples, singles, special celebrity guests Shuckey Duckey, Jaguar Wright, and many others to leave no stone unturned.

Brian Reveals, Talk Show Host, “This is not a show about highlighting dysfunction. There are sufficient platforms, talk shows, and podcasts which provide a voice for their intended audiences which are unfortunately successful at doing such. The Brian Reveals Show has an intention of showing no matter who we are, from the average person to the mainstream celebrity, we have issues that eventually will demand healing. We examine those issues, pull them apart, and put them back together. So if you’re going to expose drama, you may as well laugh on the path to healing. This is who I am. This is what the show is about. This is an opportunity to contribute in a space where audiences are looking for the next frontier in that journey. Buckle up! This is about to be an intense one.”
