The global Fructooligosaccharide Market size was USD 2.62 Billion in 2021 and is expected to register a revenue CAGR of 10.39% during the forecast period. Increased demand for low-calorie sweeteners and rising consumption of functional foods are the main drivers of market revenue growth. Due to their potential as prebiotics, fructooligosaccharides (FOS), which have long been used as sweeteners, are currently becoming more popular.

Increased demand for low-calorie sweeteners and rising consumption of functional foods are the main drivers of market revenue growth. Due to their potential as prebiotics, fructooligosaccharides (FOS), which have long been used as sweeteners, are currently becoming more popular. For instance, the demand for low- or no-sugar choices is anticipated to increase as people try to limit or avoid sugar. According to study, over 60% of U.S. consumers want the market to offer more sugar-free chocolate options in order to cater to the growing number of

Some Key Highlights from the Report

The fructooligosaccharides (FOS) market has been divided into two categories based on form: solid and liquid. Given its longer shelf life, efficient product formulation, and simplicity of use, FOS in powder form is predicted to see an increase in demand during the projection period, with the solid segment expected to account for the greatest revenue share. For instance, the powdered Peak BioBoost Supplement can be mixed with morning coffee or tea to improve bowel movements by reducing gas and constipation worries.

The market for fructooligosaccharides (FOS) has been divided into categories for infant formulations, food & beverages, animal feed, nutritional supplements, and pharmaceuticals based on application. The infant formulations sector is estimated to account for biggest market share throughout the forecast period owing to prebiotic advantages, infection prevention, neurodevelopment, cognitive function as well as gut health improvement.

Tate & Lyle successfully completed the acquisition of Quantum Hi-Tech on June 9, 2022, a substantial prebiotic dietary fibre business in Guangdong, China. Galactooligosaccharides (GOS) and Fructooligosaccharides were discovered, produced, and sold by Quantum (FOS). This acquisition strengthens the company's fortification platform, establishes it as a leader in dietary fibres globally, and increases its market share in China and Asia.

Competitive Outlook:

The global Fructooligosaccharide market is highly consolidated due to the presence of a large number of companies across this industry. These companies are known to make hefty investments in research and development projects. Also, they control a considerable portion of the overall market share, thus limiting the entry of new players into the sector. The global Fructooligosaccharide market report studies the prudent tactics undertaken by the leading market players, such as partnerships and collaborations, mergers & acquisitions, new product launches, and joint ventures.
