Our team has worked diligently to launch this platform for the facilitation of the exchange of carbon credits and we see this as an integral component to reduce friction in the current carbon market.”

John Bunszel

Exchange Corporation, (“CCE”), announces the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the Honorable Pieme Tutokot Dieudonne, Gouverneur de la Province de Kasai, DRC Africa, to develop agricultural projects and implement regenerative farming practices. Congolese Integration Network (CIN), represented by Floribert Mubalama, Founder and Executive Director, will ensure that these Projects create job opportunities within the community, produce a solid food supply for locals, and generate revenue from produce such as coffee, palm oil, corn, beans, cocoa, and more.

John Bunszel, Chief Executive Officer and Founder of CCE, is now the Official Carbon Consultant for the Province of Kasai, DRC Africa for a term of 5 Years. CCE has been awarded, 40% equity as a stakeholder, in all carbon projects that are developed in Kasai by CCE.

CCE is utilizing carbon credits to finance various types of carbon offset projects globally, such as carbon capture technology, solar/wind power generation, afforestation, agricultural development, conservation, cookstoves, etc.

The marketplace platform CCE has built now has over 93 million carbon credits available for purchase, totaling approximately $330,000,000 US dollars.

CCE provides a cutting-edge platform for the trading of carbon credits, that includes real-time transactions, records keeping through blockchain technology and most importantly transparency in the Carbon Industry. Whether agriculture, carbon capture, solar, wind, biomass, etc., CCE can help facilitate the sales of credits generated by individual or corporate entities. We provide a quick and efficient way for you to receive payment for credits without the hassle of brokering sales internally.

There are a variety of offsets to choose from, whether you are searching for a particular vintage (year), type of technology, location of economic impact, or "Standard". Use our inventory filters to narrow down search results, for a more efficient trading experience.

John Bunszel, CEO of CCE, said "Our team has worked diligently to launch this platform for the facilitation of the exchange of carbon credits and we see this as an integral component to reduce friction in the current carbon market. Producing carbon financing through the utility of the marketplace allows emissions reduction support to the areas where it is needed the most."
