-- Multipoint Group, a well-established cyber distribution company operating in more than ten countries, recently opened a new office in Istanbul and appointed İzzet Altunal to the position of Country Sales Manager. İzzet studied Electronics and Communication Engineering at Yıldız Technical University and worked for Exclusive Networks, Trend Micro and Inforte as a sales executive for many years.

As a result of the high demand for Cyber Security in this region, Multipoint Group continues to expand. The region has a great potential for high technology with its young population and developing economy. In particular, the needs and investments in cyber security are increasing every year. Turkey is a country that has made significant progress in digital banking, e-commerce, e-government and the digitalization of institutions in general. In parallel with this, IT and security investments are changing and diversifying compared to the past. As the technologies being used diversify, we see that new channels are created for hackers. For this reason, it is necessary to narrow the attack surface as much as possible for all environments, and the cyber security investments that need to be made now require a great variety of network, system, cloud and OT systems. Multipoint continues to represent many innovative cyber security manufacturers in the region with success. It contributes to the cyber security market through many innovative cyber security products such as information security, DDOS, identity management, vulnerability detection and monitoring solutions, data diode IoT, etc.
