report by Reports and Data. The market presents multiple opportunities for content delivery service providers, growing significantly over traditional hosting servers. Internet availability and data transfer speeds through smartphones give users the opportunity to access selected content.

With the increasing demand for online streaming and multimedia content, the market presents multiple opportunities for content delivery service providers, growing significantly over traditional hosting servers. Internet availability and data transfer speeds through smartphones give users the opportunity to access selected content. Internet traffic loads are increasing in the areas of information retrieval, online shopping, entertainment, and social media. A CDN solution offloads website traffic from content servers to improve the web experience. Websites are growing in popularity as they serve more dynamic content such as streaming video, e-commerce, and cloud applications for businesses and consumers and demand high performance. Many businesses around the world use content delivery networks to meet the needs of their customers and users regardless of their location. The need for CDNs among web hosting companies is growing rapidly and these factors are contributing to the revenue growth of the market.
