The Lovely Law Firm Injury Lawyers are working in collaboration with Associated Charities Myrtle Beach this holiday season to assist in providing for those in need. With the holidays fast approaching, it's easy for those who are fortunate to forget about those who may not have everything they need to stay warm, full, and comfortable. Every now and then, we all need a little help. When we go through hard times, our communities are often there to support us. Now it's our turn to do the same. That's why our Myrtle Beach personal injury lawyers take the time every year to ensure that local charities have all the supplies they need to provide.

Associated Charities Myrtle Beach is one of the charities The Lovely Law Firm Injury Lawyers is dedicated to working with. We do monthly community service projects in our area and it's important to the firm to not only be involved in the community, but to make a positive difference where we can. Associated Charities was one of the nonprofits that we chose to volunteer at this year. Our firm not only helped to organize and hang clothing items, but each employee went through their personal belongings at home and donated to the organization.

In order for us to be successful, we must give back to our communities and those who are in need. Having lived in Myrtle Beach for a number of years, we are familiar with the community's willingness to step up and assist anyone in need. We understand that the holidays are not the only time that our community members may be in need, therefore we strive to provide for our community not just during the holiday season, but year round as well. In an effort to support and serve our community and local charities. Associated Charities is assisting us in our efforts by registering individuals in need at their location.

Associated Charities will act as registrar and the pickup location on the day of. If you wish to donate, or register to receive, you can do so at:

742 Lumber Street, South Carolina 29577
Turkey pick up will be held on November 21, 2022
4:00pm - 7:00pm

Help Associated Charities Serve The Community This Holiday Season

Although the holidays are a time for spreading love and cheer, we can still feel overwhelmed because of the hustle and bustle of the season. When we are busy preparing gifts for our loved ones, we tend to overlook those who are struggling just to get by. The reasons why you should donate this year are numerous, as are the ways in which you can do so. There is no doubt that giving back is one of life's most important principles.

With the pandemic not far behind us, the importance of giving back has been magnified. There is an increase in the demand for services from those in need while funding has dried up for many nonprofits and community organizations. Charity donations are often made by people who believe in the cause or who have been touched by it in some way previously, but donations can be made by anyone who feels the call to do so. This holiday season, Associated Charities Myrtle Beach can use your help to meet
