CALGARY, AB, CANADA, November 9, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- For the eighth year, Monica Kretschmer, the powerhouse CEO, of Universal Womens Network™ recognizes women from diverse industries and for the first time, around the world. The Universal Womens Network™—the organization behind the Women of Inspiration™ Awards, honoured the achievements of 52 women including one male ally. Recognizing the achievements of women who lead, inspire and motivate!

Viewers, nominees and winners alike spanning five continents describe this year's virtual event as a powerful platform to inspire leaders at all levels to connect and celebrate. The Women of Inspiration™ Awards have recognized the achievements of over 1,000 women who lead, inspire and motivate while empowering a movement to SupportHER™.

Through the Women of Inspiration™ Awards, we see the impact of all women from diverse industries including those underrepresented by women. Women from all levels of business, walks of life and ages recognized for their achievements, contribution to the economy, and impact around the world. They are CEOs of companies, entrepreneurs, truck drivers, scientists, innovators, wellness experts, space explorers, industry executives, visionaries and SupportHER allies from youth to women with a significant track record of achievement. Categories include Dream Builder, Youth Excellence, Women-Led, Trailblazer (STEM), Diversity and Inclusion, Women in Media, SupportHER allies to name a few. This year's Lifetime of Achievement Award recognized the Honourable Dr. Jean Augustine, Canada's first African Canadian woman to be elected to the House of Commons.

If we don't see them, we can't aspire to be them. These awards support the evidence of the value women bring to the table. Whether leading lifesaving research or representing billion-dollar brands, the Women of Inspiration™ Awards recognize the many contributions women are making. From the frontlines as truck drivers to behind-the-scenes scientists, or as innovators, entrepreneurs and women at the helm of corporate companies, it's critical for women to be visible. The common thread is that they are role models using their voice to drive change.

The Universal Womens Network™ and Women of Inspiration™ Awards is about empowering women in all industries along with SupportHER™ allies. We are proud to partner with industry leaders: RBC, AMJ Campbell, Randstad Canada, SureCall, Mitacs, Banff Sunshine Village and Enbridge Gas committed to advancing women in leadership as visible champions of equity, diversity and inclusion across North America, Kretschmer shares.

achievements of one woman, we celebrate the achievements of all women. We pave the path for our future leaders, bring awareness to industries underrepresented by women, elevate visibility to women-led businesses and impact the value women contribute at all levels of business as well as to society as a whole," says Kretschmer.

Women throughout the world are being challenged for their convictions. Sometimes their freedoms are at risk. In a recent study by the Gates Foundation, women are 100 years behind in achieving equality. To achieve parity, we encourage women to lead, we invite corporations and allies to the conversation. We challenge everyone to play a role to inspire action, break the barriers and raise the bar for women to succeed personally and professionally.

The Universal Womens Network™ is a global platform committed to equity, diversity and inclusion. We recognize the achievements of women through the Women of Inspiration™ Awards. We are proud to be driving change as a diverse network welcoming men to the conversation as allies and SupportHER's.
