EINPresswire.com/ -- With the pandemic, wellness has never been more on people's minds. In popularity among people who work from home are office chairs designed to deliver many of the health benefits of moving while remaining seated. The Phil Zen Design blog post looks at the HAG Capisco, an iconic classic and all times bestselling design that keeps you active all day.

The HAG Capisco is a 2022 bestseller and an iconic design leading the market of active chairs for over 30 years

Sitting on a regular chair for long hours is uncomfortable for many of us. The 90-degree angle between the torso and legs puts a lot of pressure on our lower back, hips, and abdomen.”

“Sitting on a regular chair for long hours is uncomfortable for many of us. The 90-degree angle between the torso and legs puts a lot of pressure on our lower back, hips, and abdomen.” said post author Philippe Gryc. “Also, most chairs don't offer moving options due to their design. Peter Opsvik intended to break the mold and offer something new, versatile, ergonomic and active.”

The blog post "Why our customers love the Capisco" offers customer reviews and detailed feedback from Phil Zen about why people love the HAG Capisco chair and what makes it truly unique.

"The chair induces frequent movement and causes muscle contraction. This increases blood flow, which results in better oxygenation, higher focus, and productivity." Gryc explained.
