organization promoting performance and quality-based imaging practices, announces the second webinar in its fall series on Advanced Diagnostic Imaging. The series focuses on key trends that impact CT, MRI, and Nuclear Medicine (including SPECT, PET and PET/CT). The roundtable format provides a dynamic interactive experience as the expert panel discusses key trends and takes questions from the attendees.

“I look forward to moderating this roundtable of industry experts as we discuss notable developments and trends in the exciting and fast-moving area of MRI imaging,” says Patrick Browning, MD, MA, MSL, RadSite’s Chief Medical Officer. “The field is in constant change which RadSite tracks very carefully to make sure we have the most current quality-based standards and promote best practices.”

Raymond Fridenstine, RT(R)(CT)(MR)(ARRT), Senior Manager, Clinical Practice, Akumin and Alliance Healthcare Services, agrees “An essential aspect of medical imaging is staying up-to-date regarding innovations, trends, and challenges within the imaging community. I’m looking forward to collaborating with the other panel members.”

"ProScan is thrilled to contribute to this timely and important discussion on Emerging MRI Imaging Trends hosted by RadSite" adds Judith M. Turner, VP Sales, Marketing and Operations, ProScan Reading Services.

Below are the details of the complimentary November 15 webinar:

Description

With more than 40 million estimated MRI scans in the U.S. this year, Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) remains a mainstay of advanced diagnostic imaging in the U.S. This interactive session will focus on emerging MRI trends including:

- New imaging equipment enhancements such as point-of-care imaging applications
- Artificial intelligence (AI) solutions
- Expanded use of remote technologists
- MRI safety concerns
- Reimbursement challenges and opportunities
- New requirements after the federal “public health emergency” (PHE) declaration ends
- Other topics raised by the panel experts and audience attendees.

Moderator: Patrick Browning, MD, MA, MSL, Chief Medical Officer, RadSite

Presenters:

- Raymond Fridenstine, RT(R)(CT)(MR)(ARRT), Senior Manager, Clinical Practice, Akumin and Alliance Healthcare Services
- Kevin Oliver, RT (R) (MR), VP of Medical Imaging and Advanced Applications, SimonMed Imaging
- Judith M. Turner, VP Sales, Marketing and Operations, ProScan Reading Services

Date and Time: The webinar will take place at 1:00 p.m. (ET), November 15, 2022. Click on the webinar title above to register.
