

New titles due from Chiselbury in the run-up to Christmas

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM,
November 14, 2022 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- Chiselbury, the independent publisher, is pleased to announce its line-up for the run-up to Christmas with the imminent publication of three new titles and two republications of long out of print works by James Leasor. The new books are available for pre-order, at a discount to list price, from the Chiselbury website.

'A Soldier's Wife' is the second book by 96-year-old Margaret Ford – labelled in 2019 as the world's oldest debut author, when Pan Macmillan published her best-selling 'A Daughter's Choice: A True Story of Hardship, Heartache and Hope'. That book was described by the Daily Mail as "achingly poignant... intensely passionate". A Soldier's Wife tells the full story nine decades of change and challenge she has witnessed, with a marriage to a professional soldier stretching over six decades.

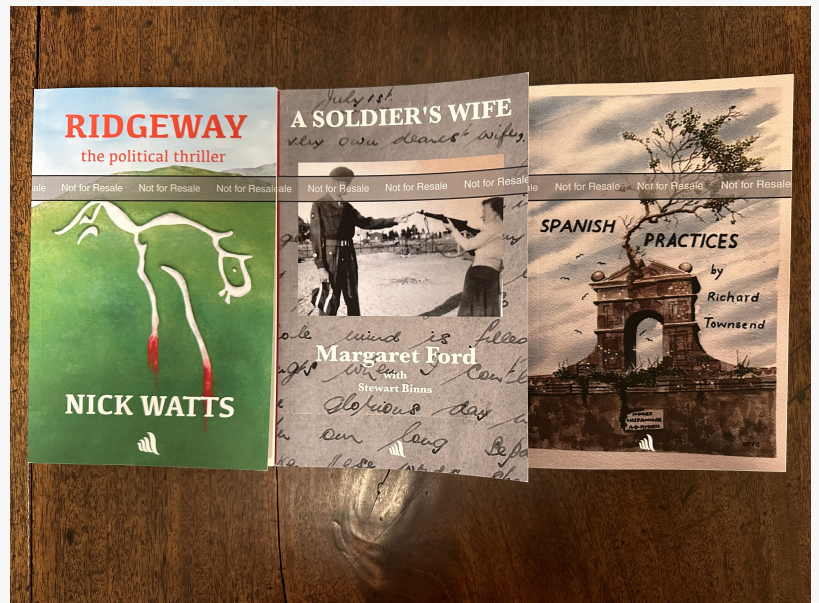

“

We are very excited to publish such diverse and outstanding new books in the coming weeks. Each and all would make great Christmas presents!"

Stuart Leasor

'Ridgeway', by Nick Watts, is a political thriller set with a background of the run-up to a UK General Election. It involves a web of scheming, treachery and death, with a hero who has to battle against dark forces to discover the truth. It is long-time political consultant Nick Watts' first novel.

'Spanish Practices', under the pen name of Richard Townsend, weaves together nearly half a century of observations by Rico, an Englishman married into an eccentric family who run a wine business in a left-behind corner of Spain. Through the interplay of rivalries, conflicts and vicissitudes, 'Spanish Practices' illuminates the idiosyncrasies of Spanish ways and exemplifies the travails of a society in the throes of wholesale transformation.

Proofs of Ridgeway, A Soldier's Wife and Spanish Practices

Chiselbury will also shortly be republishing two more of James Leasor's works: 'The Serjeant-Major', the biography of the legendary R.S.M. Ronald Brittain M.B.E Coldstream Guards, the so-called loudest voice in the British Army and a household name in the 1950s; and 'Rats – the Story of a Dog Soldier', written under the pen name of 'Max Halstock', it chronicles the life of a terrier who adopted, and was adopted by, the British Army units serving in Crossmaglen, the centre of so-called 'Bandit Country' in Northern Ireland during the Troubles and who was awarded two medals for gallantry.

"We are very excited to publish three such diverse and outstanding new books in the coming weeks. Each and all would make great Christmas presents!" commented Stuart Leasor, Chiselbury's publisher. He went on, "'The Serjeant-Major' has been Chiselbury's most asked for title since we started the business and 'Rats' will have special memories for all who served in Northern Ireland. They both will also make ideal presents for any relative who served in the Armed Forces."

About Chiselbury

Chiselbury Publishing was originally established as James Leasor Publishing in 2011 to make the works of James Leasor, one of the bestselling and most prolific British authors of the second half of the 20th Century, available to new and old readers. With a growing list of authors it now has over 50 titles currently available. More information can be found at Chiselbury Publishing.

Stuart Leasor

Chiselbury Publishing

+44 7703 537721

email us here

Visit us on social media:

Facebook

Twitter

LinkedIn

This press release can be viewed online at: <https://www.einpresswire.com/article/601080571>

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. All Right Reserved.