Barrett Automotive Services wanted to improve the exterior of their small auto repair shop in

The exterior of the building and the signage is brighter than ever before, and we look forward to reduced utility bills in the months ahead from our new LED lights.”

Bryce Barrett, Barrett Automotive Services Owner

Epworth, Iowa with LED lights without spending a lot of money or having to close during business hours for the installation process. They contacted Yellowblue LED for their no-cost energy assessment and discovered they were eligible for the Alliant Energy rebates currently available through the end of the year.

“After discussing their specific needs, we installed new exterior awning LED lighting at Barrett Automotive Services in a matter of hours,” states John Hutchcroft, Yellowblue LED VP of Field Development. “Every two, 110-watt, high output eight-foot fluorescent bulbs were replaced with two, four-foot LED 22-watt LED bulbs. Now, they will save $856.00 annually in energy costs and have a brighter and safer work environment.”

Any business with an account from public holding company Alliant Energy, <https://www.alliantenergy.com>, that has a facility no larger than 50,000 square feet and an electric bill below $100,000 are eligible for the Alliant Energy Small Business Energy Solutions

Program. These rebates are only available through an approved provider like Yellowblue LED.

"The entire process was quick and easy through Yellowblue LED, and Alliant Energy paid 70% of the total cost of lights and installation through their energy rebate program," states Bryce Barrett, Barrett Automotive Services Owner. "The exterior of the building and the signage is brighter than ever before, and we look forward to reduced utility bills in the months ahead from our new LED lights."
