EINPresswire.com/ -- The Global Body Butter Market size was USD 1.87 Billion in 2021 and is expected to register a revenue CAGR of 7.5% over the forecast period, according to the latest report by Reports and Data. Revenue growth of the market is expected to be driven by the growing need for removing sticky makeup and reducing stretch marks and scars.

The essential fatty acids in body butter enhance the skin's elasticity and help with removing makeup. In addition to moisturizing the skin, body butter is used to form a protective barrier to lock in moisture, making it easy to remove makeup and even waterproof mascara with little effort. Body butter contains antioxidants and fatty acids that enhance collagen production in skin cells. In addition, these are increasingly used to remove makeup and even fade wrinkles on the face caused by aging and pollution. Growing benefits of body butter surpass those of traditional body lotions as they nourish the skin and prevent it from getting dry. The antioxidants present in body butter also prevent premature aging of the skin caused by free radicals.

Furthermore, they protect the skin from harsh sunlight, dry air, dirt, and other toxins. As a result, the majority of skin-protection cream manufacturers include body butter such as cocoa butter, mango butter, and kokum butter in their products, which results in market revenue growth during the forecast period. On 2 February 2022 for instance, Unsun Cosmetics launched the first full-body moisturizer with SPF, Hydrating Full Coverage Body Lotion, and the first product without SPF, Face & Body Healing Butter.

The Face and Body Healing Butter are formulated with eight ingredients, including three West African medicinal oils: baobab, bissap, and touloucouna. It is formulated to moisturize, soothe irritation, and eliminate free radical stressors. The Hydrating Full Coverage Body Lotion contains
