It is utilized to enable real-time applications by wired and wireless communication providers. IMS is an IP multimedia and telephony network that operates on the 3GPP and 3GPP2 standards. Originally, the 3rd Generation Partnership Project (3GPP) created IMS to standardize the construction of next-generation mobile networks. Online gaming, video and audio conferencing, instant messaging, VoIP calling, video on demand, push to talk, and HD voice conversations are examples of IMS services.
