Links Players was started by two PGA pros back in the early 80s and as these pros travel around the country, they wanted to reach out to golfers like you and I to talk about life”

Dereck Wong

Whitt’s featured guest this week was Dereck Wong SoCal/Las Vegas Area Director of Links Players International, he has been a staff member of LPI since 2008. Wong is a long-time business leader in video game development and distribution, currently residing in Las Vegas, NV. As a Links Players leader, he challenges his fellow Links Players to be Christ-led leaders in their businesses, clubs, homes, and communities.

Links Players began 35 years ago, by founder Jim Hiskey.

He built a mission around the five letters of LINKS: Love God and others, Integrate Christ’s reign and integrity into all of life, Network friends together in Christ, Kindle compassion for the poor and needy, Share Christ through the great game of golf.

During the podcast, Wong explained how Links Players began, "it was started by two PGA pros back in the early 80s and as these pros travel around the country, they wanted to reach out to golfers like you and I to talk about life" Wong went on to say; "they talk about really things in the bible so we use that as a platform"

Whitt had this to say about Links Players, "Links Players is the foundational reason for my transformation, I didn't grow up in the church, I didn't learn about grace and mercy and all of that until I was 52" As evidenced by his introduction of Wong during the podcast, Whitt was very excited to have Dereck Wong as his guest.

During the podcast, Wong and Whitt discussed the vision and mission of the organization and how remarkable relationships grow out of the fellowship and how to invite fellow golfers to join. They talked about their individual experience and those shared by their fellow Links Players.
