The Worldwide Propagation in Urinary Tract Infection (UTI) to Drive the Market Growth

An estimated 152 million UTI infection cases are expected each year, with direct healthcare costs exceeding USD 6.5 billion.

UTIs occur when bacteria access the urethra and invades the urinary tract. Such infections affect various parts of the urinary tract, but the most prevalent is a bladder infection (cystitis). Common symptoms include frequent urination, painful urination, and pain in your side or lower back. Such discomforting sickness require an immediate testing and treatment to get relieve. Therefore, retail clinics are a proven way to treat such cases of illness as these clinics provide the convenience of treatment and screenings with an ease of shorter waiting time, flexible visiting hours and no directive of prior appointments.

Such convenience is fueling up the global retail clinics market growth.

However, rigorous policies of government, insufficient groundwork for retail clinics, and shortfall of facility to deal with complicated ailments are expected to operate as key restraint to the growth of the global retail clinics market over the forecast period.

This report also provides the existing competitive scenario of some of the key players of the global retail clinics market which includes company profiling of Kaiser Foundation Health Plan, Inc., Nextcare Claims Management LLC, The Kroger Co., CVS Health Corporation, Walmart Inc.,

Walgreen Co., Bellin Health, Concentra, Inc., MedExpress, Advocate Health Care, and others. The profiling enfold key information of the companies which encompasses business overview, products and services, key financials and recent news and developments. On the whole, the report depicts detailed overview of the global retail clinics market that will help industry consultants, equipment manufacturers, existing players searching for expansion opportunities, new players searching possibilities and other stakeholders to align their market centric strategies according to the ongoing and expected trends in the future.
