

The Family Meeting Planner Helps Parents Lead With Intention

Alex Mont-Ros created this interactive new book to help families hold purpose driven family meetings and be accountable to one another.

GILBERT, ARIZONA, UNITED STATES, November 22, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- As a father who has raised eight children (both biological and stepchildren) over the course of more than 20 years, Alex Mont-Ros has learned a thing or two about the importance of effective communication, structure and accountability among family members.

... our family grew closer, our conversations became more genuine, and as parents we were able to lead more effectively ... all while having fun doing it.”

meetings proved challenging.

“It wasn’t until we decided to be intentional and formalize our agendas, build guidelines to how we would conduct our time together, and treated our family meetings with the respect they deserved that things changed for the better,” Mont-Ros said.

Using his experience he created, The Family Meeting Planner, which contains seven key sections that share his secrets for holding intentional, impactful family meetings, including:

- A simple but effective way to create Family Core Values
- How to outline yearly goals and family mission
- How to build better communicators and have engaging conversations
- 52 weeks’ worth of family meeting worksheet agendas
- And much more

The Family Meeting Planner is designed to help families improve communication and planning, while teaching children what it looks like to lead and be dedicated to the people who are most important to them.

“The results were our family grew closer, our conversations became more genuine, and as parents we were able to lead more effectively while helping our children become better communicators and accountable individuals — all while having fun doing it,” Mont-Ros said.

The Family Meeting Planner is a unique tool created for parents by parents who take leading their families seriously. “There’s no planner on the market dedicated and focused specifically on doing an effective family meeting consistently like The Family Meeting Planner,” Mont-Ros added.
