

Registrar Corp Introduces BRCGS Issue 9 Online Training

New courses help companies prepare for the food safety standard's requirements

HAMPTON, VA, UNITED STATES, November 22, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Leading FDA advisory and training firm, Registrar Corp, announced today the release of online training courses for the newest version of BRCGS, Issue 9.

Given the challenges of travel and in-person training during COVID, we're excited to offer this type of fully online BRCGS training.”

David Lennarz, President of Registrar Corp

The fully online and self-paced courses provide training for facilities interested in learning more about BRCGS. In-depth training is also available for HACCP Team Leaders, the HACCP Team, and the BRCGS Internal Audit Team. Successfully completing the courses meets the requirements for becoming trained in BRCGS. Food industry professionals can now learn BRCGS at their own pace and from the comfort of their homes or office.

This training has been developed as an alternative to the standard BRCGS Courses offered through the approved training program and is not included in the BRCGS-approved training program.

The BRCGS standard is not prescriptive on the courses required for training, but the company needs to ensure the training has been effective. The effectiveness of this training program is measured by the successful completion of the interactive exercise sections included in each chapter of the course.

The BRCGS online training courses are just a few of the many online courses that Registrar Corp offers for food safety professionals. In July 2020, the FSSC 22000 food safety certification program approved two of Registrar Corp's FSSC 22000 courses, which prepare facilities to implement a GFSI-recognized food safety scheme. Registrar Corp also offers PCQI courses, SQF and ISO Implementation, Internal Auditing, HACCP, allergen management, and much more.
