EINPresswire.com/ -- According to the latest report by IMARC Group, titled "Mango Butter Market: Global Industry Trends, Size, Growth, Opportunity and Forecast 2022-2027," offers a comprehensive analysis of the industry, which comprises insights on the mango butter market share. The global mango butter market reached a value of US$ 91.4 Million in 2021. Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the market to reach a value of US$ 135.6 Million by 2027 exhibiting a CAGR of 6.50% during 2022-2027.

Mango butter refers to a soft, organic, and creamy textured kernel fat that is derived from the shelled kernel of mangoes. Sweet and mildly scented, mango butter usually comes in semi-solid form but becomes liquid when smeared. In addition to triglycerides and antioxidants, it contains oleic acid, tocopherol, and vitamin C. Mango butter is widely used as a sealant and moisture locker and is, therefore, extensively utilized in the formulation of cosmetic products, including sunscreen, lotion and hair products. There are many benefits of mango butter, including treating dry skin, rashes, wrinkles, wounds, and cracks, relieving insect bites, and treating eczema, dermatitis, and blemishes.

Mango Butter Market

Market Trends:

The market is majorly driven by considerable growth in the personal care industry across the globe. This can be attributed to the increasing awareness regarding skincare among the masses. Also, the growing usage of cosmetic products among the geriatric population for anti-aging purposes is providing an impetus to the market growth. In addition to this, the rapid utilization of mango butter as a substitute for vegetable oils, such as soybean oil, is creating a positive outlook for the market. Apart from this, the rising trend of incorporating natural ingredients in cosmetic products is further creating lucrative growth opportunities for major market players. Some of the other factors contributing to the market include rapid urbanization, the inflating disposable incomes of the individuals, and extensive research and development (R&D) activities conducted by key players.
