

Swan Island Networks and Anesis Consulting Group Announce TX360 Proactive Intelligence as a Service Partnership

PORTLAND, OR, UNITED STATES, November 22, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Swan Island Networks and Anesis Consulting Group have partnered to bring global threat intelligence as a service to the customers of the Anesis Consulting Group.

Mark W. Hoffman MBCI, award-winning business continuity leader, and President of Anesis Consulting Group, said: "I'm excited about this partnership because it allows me to have customizable proactive threat monitoring at my fingertips, enabling me to provide a more comprehensive service and extra value to my customers in the US, Canada, the Caribbean and across Europe."

"Corporations can cut their risk by anticipating and proactively monitoring all types of threats," Swan Island's CEO, Pete O'Dell, asserted. "The integration of near real-time intelligence alerts about global physical security events to corporations helps to identify, prevent, mitigate and respond in an enhanced, proactive fashion. The organizations that work with ACG will be able to have best of breed advisory and tactical alerting as part of their overall risk strategy."

The Anesis threat monitoring service is based on Swan Island's TX360 platform. TX360 monitors emerging threats globally for corporations across 6 continents and all industry segments. Analyst-curated global threat intelligence is utilized alongside thousands of aggregated information feeds and can be finely tuned to provide proactive intelligence to both command center dashboards and email/text alerting. The service can be deployed in hours and is based in the Microsoft Azure cloud.
