A special key note lecture will be held to honor the founder of the Dallas Rhinoplasty meeting - Dr. Jack P Gunter.

This year's emphasis will continue to expand upon the technical refinements in preservation rhinoplasty.

Over its 40 year history, the Dallas Rhinoplasty Meeting has become the key international event for surgeons worldwide as a unique educational venue for sharing the latest techniques and advancements in rhinoplasty. The meeting has brought about crucial shifts in the field such as the widespread adoption of the "open approach," which is now considered the primary method for performing rhinoplasty surgery today. The meeting also inspired the textbook "Dallas Rhinoplasty: Nasal Surgery by the Masters," now it is 3rd edition, edited by Drs. Rohrich, Adams, and Ahmad and is used as the rhinoplasty textbook in plastic surgery educational programs internationally. The book and meeting are both dedicated to founder - Dr. Jack P. Gunter.

"The Dallas Rhinoplasty Meeting is a hands-on global meeting where participants can see, learn, and perform rhinoplasty alongside leading rhinoplasty experts that have pioneered modern rhinoplasty techniques," explains Dr. Rohrich, the meeting's Chairman. "The meeting is significant in that many renowned rhinoplasty surgeons gather together and discussions focus on what works to provide the best, optimal, long term results."

Over the past four decades, the Dallas Rhinoplasty Meeting has trained over 20,000 plastic surgeons and otolaryngologists. "The Dallas Rhinoplasty Meeting continues to be an important educational venue for surgeons who want to learn and truly master rhinoplasty surgery." says Dr. Rohrich.

Topics to be covered in this year's meeting include both finesse technique in precision and preservation rhinoplasty, tip shaping and finesse, lateral wall and alar rim analysis, advanced septal surgery, and advances in revision rhinoplasty, among many others.

"Rhinoplasty truly epitomizes plastic surgery as a whole because it is a surgery of such great finesse and takes years to master." says Dr. Rohrich. "It is one of the most difficult procedures in all of plastic surgery, but also one of the most rewarding."
