Key Trends In The Customized Premixes Market

Innovative premixes are a key trend gaining popularity in the customized premixes market. Major companies operating in the customized premixes market are focused on developing innovative products to sustain their position in the customized premixes market. For instance, in December 2020, Prinova Group LLC, a US-based food fortification and premix manufacturer launched a new dairy replacement product, that offers unique products containing a combination of protein and plant-based milk including probiotics. The emerging trend of vegan products is followed by these dairy replacement products by providing plant-based products as an alternative to animal-based products and is developed for vegan consumers.

Customized Premixes Market Overview

The customized premixes market consists of sales of customized premixes by entities (organizations, sole traders, and partnerships) that are used to supplement the diet with a suitable and safe nutrient quantity. A customized premix refers to a set of nutrients added as per the individual nutritional requirements to fulfill one's nutritional requirements and overcome nutrient deficiencies.
