Whether shoppers want to take a close tab on their property or take a good care of beloved family members and furry friends, Annke will have them covered.

Annke security camera systems Black Friday sales

Annke really stands out as its own league when it comes to home and commercial-grade security solutions. Unlike conventional black and white camera brand, Annke trumps all other brands for its color night vision NightChroma™ series and Analog series, which has been an all-time champion of choice for color night vision security system on Amazon. The brand's other collection, PoE collection and wireless and wire-free collection wins badges from tech sites like Techradar.com and Popularmechanics.com etc. as "the best 4K security camera", "the best DVR for CCTV", "the best NVR for affordable plug-and-play" and "the best customization 4K security camera system".

People keep coming back to buy from us because their system had lasted for 5 to 6 years and still work out. Our security camera systems would be the perfect holiday gift for protecting who you cared.”

Jerry, Annke's CPO

“Since the establishment in 2014, we have been honing our image processing technologies and developed security camera system solutions that meet customers' every need, from baby monitoring cameras, wired camera to wireless smart solutions. Overtime we have amassed more than five million users worldwide.” said Jerry, Annke's Chief Product Officer, “People keep coming back to buy from us because their system had lasted for 5 to 6 years and still work out. Our security camera systems would be the perfect holiday gift for protecting who you cared the most and a wise long-term purchase to secure any property.”
