positioning the brand best in the relevant niche. Besides PR, Louk Medias also possesses social media marketing and branding expertise.

The company was started with a capital investment of $800 only, but it has managed to bag tens of thousands of dollars in revenue serving significant brands in the US market. All of this was started by two brothers having two laptops with a joint mission to change the industry's trends. Their dream is now gradually changing the industry and perception of PR. Gabriel L. at Louk Medias believes that "your company can expand only as large as your imagination allows it."

Louk Medias not only employed people locally but globally as well. The current plan of Louk Medias is to launch PR alternatives and special royalty deals such as record labels and publishing brands. This initiative would help growing authors and music artists who could not afford the upfront of getting publicity at the very inception of their careers.

Here are some of the critical highlights of Louk Medias's company:

- * It started with a small capital investment but has a global reach
- * Focus on positioning the brands and individuals as experts in their niche
