I.C.U. partners with MLife Music Group to bring the musical talent for this event. Known for its philanthropic foundations and commitment to social responsibility, MLife Music Group regularly deploys its artists for community events.

"Our mission is to promote the healing power of music therapy, which has been proven through extensive research to help ease tension and anxiety, improve medical outcomes, and support a better quality of life."

Norman Alexander was hand-picked for the event for his specific style. His music is celebrated as "soulful, jazzy, and soothing," and is expected to add an uplifting spirit to the Healing2Music Giving Tuesday event.

Giving Tuesday is celebrated yearly on the Tuesday after Thanksgiving. Considered a “global generosity movement,” the day represents an opportunity to “give, collaborate, and celebrate generosity.”

“Our spiritual purpose is to bring joy and positive healing energies to all who are hospitalized and afflicted with various chronic illnesses.” Alexander released his single “The Reason” earlier this year and has 1.3 million Youtube views.

His earlier singles also include “No Goodbyes” and “All I Know.”
