

BoardSpace announced a new integration with TOPS Software

Expands Community Association Management Tech to include Board Management Software

OTTAWA, ONTARIO, CANADA, November 28, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- BoardSpace, a board management system for community associations, announced its integration with TOPS Software,

By tapping into the unique functionality of BoardSpace, TOPS customers will be able to execute board responsibilities more effectively with integrated tools.”

Charlie Piper, CEO of TOPS

the largest provider of community association management (CAM) Software. TOPS provides a scalable end-to-end community operations suite that enables property management companies and self-managed associations of any size to do their jobs more easily.

The integration will position BoardSpace alongside the leading provider of community association management software and bring an expanded suite of tools to users and customers.

CEO and Founder of BoardSpace Pat Crosscombe said, “I’m thrilled to provide TOPS customers access to board management software specifically designed for associations, HOAs & condos.” She added, “our unique partnership brings much-needed tools for association managers and directors in managing their condo and HOA communities.”

Existing TOPS Customers will now be able to easily integrate with BoardSpace and access board management features like document management, voting, tracking minutes, board events, agenda templates and more.

CEO of TOPS, Charlie Piper said, “This partnership is another example of our commitment to making our customers’ jobs easier. By tapping into the unique functionality of BoardSpace, TOPS customers will be able to execute board responsibilities more effectively with integrated tools.”
