

525 MIDDLE & HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS FROM 6 STATES TO DEMONSTRATE LEADERSHIP ROBOTICS SKILLS

Denver BEST ROBOTICS Championship - Colorado School of Mines

DENVER, COLORADO, USA, November 28, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- How can robots help address our global supply chain challenges? About 525 middle and high school students from six states will show off their robotic solutions on Dec. 3, and 4 at the Denver BEST Robotics Regional Championship hosted at Colorado School of Mines.

A total of 24 teams representing middle and high schools from eight competitions in six states will convene at Mines for the regional championship, along with their teachers, mentors, friends, and families.

Inspiring experience to invite the best teams to Mines for the first year. Creating, where 150 years of talent is invested in innovation, enabling BEST Robotics to be here at Colorado School of Mines.”

*Michael Steiner, BEST
Executive Director*

This year's competition theme is Made2Order, with each team challenged to design a robot that controls another robot to accomplish order fulfillment in a warehouse environment within three minutes.

In addition to the robot competition, some teams will bring exhibits that show a visual story of their robot and team. Students will showcase their team's brand identity and what they have learned from the competition.
