Home 4 You has a solid track record in helping homeowners sell their houses no matter the reason behind the sale.

"We thrive as problem solvers, helping local homeowners with difficult, unwanted houses. Whether you need help removing liens, making repairs, or handling difficult tenants, we can help. We will buy your property seamlessly, so you won't ever have to worry about cost, negotiations, or wasted time," Home 4 You wrote on its website.

Van Deurzen said that the Home 4 You house-buying team fully understands the pain and stress homeowners must endure when they are stuck with the wrong property.

Their newly improved house-buying solution is specifically designed to meet their needs without getting burdened dealing with a middleman or waiting for a long time to get their property sold.

On its website, Home 4 You enumerated the list of perks homeowners can get when they directly sell their properties to them:

- No need to clean up. House sellers can leave any unwanted items behind.
- Home 4 You will take care of all the needed repairs, which can cost a fortune when listing on the MLS.
- The Home 4 You team can help house sellers negotiate their liens and have them removed from the property.
- No need to pay commission costs when the house sells or wait for a buyer to come along.
- Home 4 You will close at the house seller's convenience, always working according to their terms.

What makes Home 4 You different from other house buyers or real estate agents is that they help house sellers compare their available options and provide them with all the data and information they need.

That way, they can decide on their own what the ideal choice can benefit them the most.
