Earmuffs are a popular winter accessory that provides wearers with warmth and protection from the cold. Earmuffs are headgear consisting of two padded cups attached to a band. They fit over the ears and typically have an adjustable band behind the head for support. The padded cups contain insulation material such as artificial fur or fleece which acts as a barrier between your ears and the cold air outside. In addition, most earmuffs also feature thermal linings that provide extra warmth in extreme weather conditions. As a result, earmuffs can help keep you warm while protecting your ears from strong winds and freezing temperatures. When selecting earmuffs, it is important to consider comfort as well as durability.
