

Dehydrated & Freeze-Dried Pet Food Market Size to Boost USD $12.4 billion By 2027 | CAGR 6.7% - IndustryARC

Storage benefits, higher nutrient-profile maintenance and the growing pet population across the globe have driven the market.

HYDERABAD, TELANGANA, INDIA, December 6, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- IndustryARC, in its latest report, predicts that Dehydrated & Freeze-Dried Pet Food Market Size is estimated to reach $12.4 billion by 2027 and it is poised to grow at a CAGR of 6.7% over the forecast period of 2022-2027. Dehydrated pet food is minimally processed food and often has a similar consistency as freeze-dried food. The cooking methodology allows the preservation of key nutritional elements such as antioxidants, carbohydrates and other amino acids. Newer-age companies are delivering the products with the premise of using a higher-standard ingredient base that is equivalent to human-grade food, instead of using by-products or animal feed. Due to the placement of products under the premium category, the prices offered are exorbitantly higher than base pet food. Moreover, trends such as raw feeding and humanization would present opportunities and challenges for marketers in the forecast period. However, pet humanization along with growth in pet adoptions in the larger Asian markets would propel the global Dehydrated & Freeze-dried Pet Food Industry outlook during the projected period of 2022-2027.
