OAKLAND, CA, UNITED STATES, December 8, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A sound plumbing system is not only important to the structure of the building, but more importantly, it is crucial for a healthy and active life. Yet, surprisingly, plumbing remains one of the most neglected parts of any structure, whether residential or commercial. A good plumbing system maintains a smooth running of water in the building and ensures clean water.

One of the bigger plumbing problems Oakland is expected to face soon is the rising sea level which is only 9 miles away from the city. The seahorse water has an overwhelming amount of toxins from industrial runoff and sewage water. Oakland has a very old plumbing system; due to the extreme weather, the plumbing systems are more likely to get damaged. In such cases, the toxic sewage water will most likely seep into the city's plumbing system, seriously harming lives.

Drainage, pipes, fittings, and faucets are all part of the plumbing system, and sometimes a problem in one part
